Oh my gosh, this is the best coloring book ever! Okay, that's my opinion and it's also my very first grayscale coloring book AND we have our kitchen decorated in wine pictures, etc. But, I have had so much fun coloring in the Wine! Grayscale Photo Coloring for Adults by Anne Manera and I've gotten lots of complements on it. I have it displayed on the side of my refrigerator just like a mom displays her kids drawings. As I said, I have never had a grayscale before so I had no idea how to color one. I decided to start with the one that is in full color on the cover. I worked hard to try to find the exact colors that were used. As it turned out, my colors were darker but I love it just as much. I learned a lot about using grayscale by doing that. I learned that next time I need to start with a lighter color than normal so the picture will be lighter, I learned that the shading of the gray is all I need to properly shade my picture. I don't have to keep going back with the same color making it darker (unless I want to) because it automatically goes darker as I color it. And, I learned that I

LOVE using the grayscale book. I am a crafter and not an artist so I'm delighted to be able to color something that really fits my style, if I could actually draw. This book has 24 beautiful wine related photos for me to color. "IF" I were to color and display them all, I could wallpaper one whole wall with them. :-)

The paper these are printed on is strong enough that I could use my watercolor pencils, my gel pens or my markers. Of course, no matter what I always place a white sheet of paper behind my coloring pages "just in case" it happens to bleed through.
